

CNT - La Transition

Press release from the French National Transition Council (CNT)

The National Transitional Council, which I have represented as President since August 2019, and Stan Maillaud, recently freed from the yoke of the current leadership, at my side to lead NéoPol, are doing everything possible to ensure that the sovereign people recover their current public forces.

Like other humanists, freethinkers, creators, scientists, Eric Fiorile, the man behind the legal constitution and the CNT's declaration to the UN, was arrested and taken into custody on Wednesday, December 16. This is expected to end on Friday, December 18, the day he has planned to become the day of the Liberation of the French people. We have information showing that the services concerned by this arrest would be much more sympathetic to the CNT than the event suggests, and we remain fully confident about the outcome of this procedure as well as about our imminent victory, that is to say yours.

As a result, the program for December 18 is obviously maintained.

Please pay close attention to the following details, which are crucial to its smooth running and to the success of the event. that Stan Maillaud is going to expose you:

Everywhere in France, this day is considered a holiday.

On this day we launch the liberation of France.

Friday, December 18 is NOT a day of demonstration, but a historical event. marking the first day of our liberation, which we celebrate as it should be.

Indeed, you have understood well, and too often tragically to your own detriment and your own expense that gatherings, demonstrations or other clichés are nothing but traps that can be inevitably lead to a violent and divisive outcome. It's time to change the game, to change the paradigm of expression: Let's be smarter, we will all express our joy and freedom. throughout France to bring life back to our homes, villages, towns, cities, villages and villages. regions...

To our children, our families, our parents in great danger.

By spreading a return of life everywhere in France and in our hearts, without any notion of concentration that could be manipulated at leisure, we remain masters of our Joy and Freedom. And we are ALL and ALL actors of this historical day, the first of our new Life of Free People. Each one of us is a drop of water, and together we are the ocean, France, Humanity.

On the other hand, we reserve this space for our brothers and sisters in the public forces: gendarmes, national police officers, municipal police officers whose ideals have for too long been obnoxiously exploited.

On December 18, we are all liberating ourselves, and we accompany the liberation of our people in arms, our peacekeepers. Let us send them the message that we are with them, behind them, and that we will no longer tolerate their despair. In this festive period that some wanted to sabotage us, we have a unique and perhaps ultimate opportunity to renew the bonds of friendship and brotherhood with the guarantors of our peace, our freedom and our security. The simplest and most spontaneous way to do so is to pay them a little visit in their premises with attention like chocolates, marrons glacés, ... which will also remind them of the real nature of the CNT.

The National Transition Council is the only legal tool that today allows France to have a legitimate government and to offer the possibility to get out of a way of life that nobody wants anymore.

We remind you that since 2008, the government of the Republic has ceased to be legitimate by betraying the mandate of trust given to it by the French people.

What legitimizes the government of Free France represented by the CNT is a jurisprudence in international law, an opportunity offered to all peoples and which we seized in 2015.

The project of this Transition that brings us together is not the seizure of power, but the possibility for the French people to settle in peace and security to make informed decisions about their mode of governance to come.

Make no mistake: we are simple tools at the service of Collective Human Intelligence. Therefore, the CNT is obviously a tool open to ALL sincere movements working for the common good and wishing to express themselves and co-create.

To symbolize the gathering with the other movements, we have at our side Vincent who represents the Maquis, an emblematic figure of the Yellow Vests.

« Thank you Delphine and hello everyone. Indeed, as a Yellow Vest, I have long been following the CNT and its work, which we share, and I support this initiative of the "Chocolate Revolution". Together with Stan Maillaud and the entire CNT, I am about to make the first friendly visit to a nearby gendarmerie to launch the operation. »

« No one, we say, no one can impose the New World Order on us! »
